Gerry Pinto Memorial Lecture Series- First Call for Children Maiden research breaks the silence on sexual abuse of boys

As part of its advocacy efforts, Butterflies has been organizing Annual Lectures for practitioners, academicians, research scholars and policy makers, on pertinent social issues that impact the lives of children. This year the Gerry Pinto Memorial Annual Lecture was organised as part of the campaign United for Boys, on 30 September 2019 at India International Centre, New Delhi. Breaking the silence on sexual abuse of boys the event shared the findings of a study titled "Exploring Experiences and Perspectives of Boys in the Context of Masculinities and Sexuality" with an objective to initiate public discourse on the issue-'Sexual violence against boys'.

Along with our key speaker- Dr. Ravi Verma (Regional Director-Asia, International Center for Research on Women) we explored and understood how the dominant notions on childhood, gender, masculinity and sexuality perpetuate sexual violence affecting boys, increase the vulnerability of boys to sexual violence, and contribute to under reporting. This 14th Annual Lecture also highlighted the need for more gender-inclusive recovery services, effective sex education, revised laws, and changes to the cultural and social norms around gender and sexual violence.
