Our Story

Butterflies was founded in Delhi, India in 1989 with the core goal of protecting & empowering street connected children and children in vulnerable situations so that they become self-reliant and exit the cycle of generational illiteracy and poverty. The organisation's approach is democratic, rights based and non-institutional. Butterflies exists to ensure that every child is free from exploitation, can access quality education and healthcare, is loved and supported, has a right to a safe childhood and reach their potential.

Where We Work

Direct Interventions

New Delhi & Uttarakhand

Indirect Interventions

Through the Children's Cooperatives Program, in eight countries in South & Central Asia, two countries in Africa and eight states of India.

Member of Family for Every Child, a global alliance of local civil society organisations working together to improve the lives of vulnerable children around the world.

How We Work

Democratic and Participatory

We listen to children and let our work be guided by their views, suggestions and feelings. By giving vulnerable children a voice and tools to raise issues which have a bearing on their lives, we enable them to facilitate change and become valued and productive citizens.

Rights Based

We believe children's rights are human rights and they must be upheld. Children are not passive objects but have distinct rights to survive and thrive, learn and grown and make their voices heard. At the heart of our work are children's own cooperatives and children's councils. These together with our work with civil society and the government aim to uphold the Constitution of India and the UN Convention on Child Rights.

Non Institutional

Butterflies believes in the importance of strengthening families and communities to protect and take care of children. Families are the first line of defense for children and institutionalising children should be the last resort.

We work with children and their communities to create meaningful & sustainable change aimed at achieving self-sufficiency. Our interventions are designed to educate and impart life skills to vulnerable children so that they become self-reliant and exit from the cycle of generational illiteracy and poverty.

Children are like butterflies with short childhoods but if given proper care & protection can bloom into beautiful productive human beings. Today the importance of listening to children and young people is recognised as fundamental to their human dignity and healthy development. Since inception Butterflies has been encouraging children to participate in all matters concerning them, which has been a rich and rewarding experience. One important outcome of children's participation is the Children's Cooperatives facilitated by Butterflies, now running in several states of India and several countries in the world.

Our Impact

The best thing about being a part of Butterflies is...

"It teaches you to believe in yourself and become what you always dreamt of becoming"

Hasim, Sous Chef, Cruise Liner, Florida

"It makes you realise that you are not studying for someone else, you are studying for yourself. It gives you a different strength & energy I cannot explain..... to pursue your dreams"

Samiya, student at our street education programme

"That you are supported by Rita Didi who is always happy to listen to me and has helped me become what I am today"

Rajdev, Assistant Chef in JW Marriott.

Hasim, Samiya and Rajdev are just 3 young people from the thousands of children Butterflies works with every year..

Every Child can Reach their Potential

Butterflies is governed by a Board of Trustees and is independently audited every year. Our supporters receive an Annual Report of all programmes conducted.
